Early Musical Education in Germany. In visiting the school at Schwalbach, the first room we came to was that of the girls, who were all learning astronomy. A strange preparation, thought I, for the after-life of a Nassau female. Who would think that the walking masses, half grass, half woman, one meets every day in the fields and lanes, would be able to tell whether the earth moved round the sun, or the sun round the earth, or if the moon were any bigger than their own reaping-hooks? We asked the master to allow us to hear them sing. Great was the de-light of the little madchens when this request was made known; there was an universal bright-ening of faces and shuffling of leaves; the pedagogue took down an old violin from a peg where it hung, and accompanied their sweet voices in a pretty, simple air, which they sang in parts, and from the notes. The next room was full of little boys between fix next room was full of little boys between six and eight years of age. They sang a hymn for us, the simple words of which were very touching. As I stood behind one dear little fel-low, "hardly higher than the table," I understood how it was that the Germans were a nation of musicians, and that in listening to the rude songs of the peasants at their work the car is never shocked by the drawling, untaught style of the same class of people in our country. From the time they are able to lisp, they are ande to sing by note. My little friend in the ragged bleuse, and all the other children, had the music, as well as the words they were singing, in their hands, written on sheets of paper; they followed the time as correctly as possible, marking with their little fingers on the page the crotchets quavers, rests, &c.

At Leipsic, the most un-English trait I gathered during my speculations at the window this even-ing, was a group of little boys playing in the grass-plot outside. They were all poor, and a few stockingless, and were engaged in some up-roarious game, when, in the middle of it, the little urchins burst into the most harmonious melody, each taking his part—soprano, tenor, bass, &c. with exquisite correctness. I saw them jump up, and, linking each other's arms in true schoolboy fashion, sally down the street, vociferating their song in such time and tune, that, but for my initiation into the mystery at the Schwalbach school, I should have started at them as so many little wonders. What a delightful system is this music! as early and as indispensable a branch of education as the A B C .- Souvenirs of a Summer

RECOVERY OL A LOST WORK OF FRANKLIN.-It appears by a statement published in a London periodical called the Notes and Queries, that a copy periodical called the Notes and Querios, mark by of the first work written by Benjamin Franklin when 18 years of age and a journeyman printer in London in 1725, has been found. All attempts to find a copy of it have heretofore failed, and it was supposed that they had all been destroyed. In Dr. Franklin's Autobiography, he mentions this as his first work. It was written partly in answer to Wollaston's Religion of Nature, and its title is, "A Dissertation on Liberty and Necessity, Pleasure and Pain, in a Letter to a Friend." is addressed to Mr. J(ames) R(alph), and concludes, "Truth will be truth, though it sometimes proves mortifying and distasteful.'

A correspondent describes the oldest house in Manchester, Mass., as a curiously-built dwelling, having two stories on the front and one in the rear, mostly constructed of oak timber, and set on a rock, where the people of the present day would no more think of placing a house than they would on the Himmaleh mountains. This house was built in 1643, and is therefore about two hundred and nine years old-was one of the first put up in the town, and its original proprie-tor was Shadrach Norton. The bricks in the chimney are a great curiosity, some of them weighing from eight to ten pounds each. The scendant of Shadrack Norton. - Exch.

SINGULAR DESERTION AT SEA.—The ship Cincinnati, of Stonington, which arrived at New York on Sunday, from a whaling cruise, on the 26th March fell in with and boarded the British schooner Fanny Bourne, of Dartmouth, N. S., abandoned and dismantled. The captain of the Cincinnati reports the schooner perfectly tight. He took from her a quantity of bills of lading, insurance policy, a promissory note, private let ters, captain's memoranda, and other papers.

Traveller—"That's what my friends say." Railway Official—"But you must n't smoke, sir!" Traveller-"So my doctor tells me." Railway Officer—(indignantly)—"But you shan't smoke, sir!" Traveller—"Ah! just what my wife says."

FLUENCY IN CONVERSATION .- Roll an empty barrel down a hill, and what a rattling noise i makes! So with an empty carriage over the pavement. So also with an empty head! When it contains but a few flattering ideas, everybody can hear them rattle. You almost see them when that fellow who carries such a head passes by

CLAIMS OF THE HEIRS OF LAFAYETTE.-The heirs of Gen. Lafayette have brought suit to recover several hundred acres of land, having a front of 600 yards, beyond the old fortifications at New Orleans. This is a portion of the 11,520 acres of land granted to Layfayette by Congress.

In Alabama, it is an indictable offence to play cards in a "public place." It has been decided in a late case that playing in the woods, out of sight of a house, and off the road, is not a "pub-

WILMINGTON BOARDING SCHOOL

FOR BOYS.—This institution is situated in one of the healthlest parts of the city of Wilmington, entirely beyond the settled portions of the town. The uniform healthfulness of the location may be inferred from the fact that, since the establishment of the School, about twenty-eight years, very few cases of serious indisposition have occurred among the pupils, and not a single death either here, or from diseases contracted while here.

The course of instruction includes, besides the ordinary English branches, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Physiology, History, Rhetoric, the various branches of Mathematics, and the Latin, Greek, and French Languages. Particular attention is paid to the higher Mathematics and their application to Mechanics and Engineering; the latter and Surveying are taught practically by field operations, with the use of appropriate instruments. Lectures on Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, in which all the important principles are illustrated by experiments, are regularly delivered before the students.

As the object is to make the instruction as thorough and practical as possible, no expense has been spared in providing suitable supparatus. It is believed that, in this respect, the Institution will compare favorably with any similar one in the country. A carefully selected library, of more than one thousand volumes, containing works on the various branches of Literature and Science, furnishes ample reading matter; while a Laboratory, fully supplied with apparatus and tests, contains all that is necessary for practical instruction in Chemical Manipulation.

The school year commenced on the third Second-day (Monday) of the Ninth month (September,) and is divided into four quarters of eleven weeks each, leaving a vacation of two months, from about the middle of the Seventh month (July).

Newark Academy.

Newark Academy.

By a late re-organization of this department of Deiaware College, the Board of Trustees have taken measures to place it upon a new and improved foundation, and to endow it with advantages possessed by few similar institutions in the country. The Academy, heretofore merged in the College, and of course subjected to all the evils which have been found to attend the amalgamation of the two departments in the same building, and under the same government, now enjoys the privilege of a separate establishment, without losing those which result from its relation to the College proper.

A large and elegant edifice, with all the necessary fixtures of a complete boarding establishment, has been erected and furnished, in which the students of the Academy board, under the immediate charge of the Principal and his Assistants; and all its exercises are conducted on a system of its own, uninterrupted by the interests or operations of the other department. The furniture of the study-rooms and dormitories has been chosen with peculiar reference to comfort and convenience for study; and no expense has been spared in providing the apparatus necessary to reader the means of instruction complete; giving to Newark Academy facilities for private study and comfortable accommodation of students, fully equal to those afforded by many of our colleges.

From its intimate relation to the College, students of the Academy enjoy many of our colleges.

From its intimate relation to the College, students of the Academy enjoy many of our colleges and discretion, by recommendation of the Principal, and permission of the Faculty, may enjoy the use of the College library without additional charge. Admission also may be had to the Lectures, and such other privileges of the College as can be profitably enjoyed by academical vicinity in the English Latin and Greek is seventy.

The charge for Boarding, Washing, Fuel, Light, &c., with tuition in the English, Latin, and Greek, is seventy dollars for the Summer Session, and seventy-five for the Winter Session. The only extras are one dollar per session for incidental expenses, and a fee of eight dollars for Modern Languages, and a fee of five dollars for Drawing, from those who enter these classes. The sessions and vacations of the Preparatory Department are the same as those of the College.

Letter from the Hon. Henry Clay.

ASHLAND, 20th July, 1849.

Dear Sir: I wish to express to you the gratification I derived on receiving the July number of the Merchante Magazine and Commercial Review, from viewing your portrait in the beginning, and from reading your address to your friends at the end of it. When we feel under obligations to those who have contributed to our information and amusement, we are naturally desirous to possess all the knowledge of them, of their appearance, of the features of their countenance, and of the character and habits of their mind, which we can acquire. You have placed your numerous readers (at least you have me, if I may not speak for them) under those obligations; and the number of your valuable work now before me, in some degree, satisfies the desire to which I have alluded.

I have become quite familiar with the Magazine and Review, and have no hesitation in expressing my humble opinion that it is emisently entitled to the public regard and support. It collects and arranges, in good order, a large amount of valuable statistical and other information, highly useful not only to the merchant, but to the statement, to the cultivator of the earth, to the manufacturer, to the mariner, in short, to all classes of the business and reading community.

Entertaining this opinion, I am glad that it has been, and Extract of a letter from Hon. Millard Fillmore.

"I have read it (Merchants' Magazine) with a good deal of a fatention, and have no hesitation in saying that I think it one of the most valuable periodicals that was ever published. To the merchant it seems quite indispensable, and to the statesman and man of general information almost equally desirable. It is a grand repository of useful facts and information, which can be found nowhere so well digested and so accessible as in these numbers. I only regret that I do not own the whole work."

Letter from the Hon. Thomas H. Benton.

Washington Crty, April 20, 1849.

Mr. Freeman Hunt.—Sir: I owe you many thanks for the opportunities I have had to read the Merchants' Magazine, and have found it in reality to be a magazine, and that well replenished, of all the useful matter which the title would imply, and presented with a fullness and clearness which delights while it instructs. It is, in fact, a merchants' magazine in the large acceptation of the term—merchants who go between nations, whose large operations bring many departments of knowledge, and a view of the state of the world, into daily requisition. But it is not the great merchant only, but the one of more modest, but, nevertheless, of most useful operations—the merchant of the interior also—who will find this magazine to abound with the information the pursuit of his business and the elevation of the mercantile character requires. Nor is its utility at all confined to merchants, but extends to the logislator and diplomatist, and to all who are charged with managing the affairs of the nation. For myself, I have found it most useful to me in my senatorial labors, and have been in the habit for many years of carefully consulting it.

Yery respectfully, sir, your obedient servant, THOMAS H. BENTON.

At the great Fair of the Maryland Institute, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, held in Baltimore in October and November, 1850, the first premium (a heavy Silver Medal) was awarded to Ezra Whitman, ir., for the largest and best display of Agricultural Implements. Also first premium (another Silver Medal) for his Improved Wrought iron Railway Horse Power, which was made for exhibition at the World's Fair, in London, in May, 1861.

COLD SPRING WATER CURE.

COLD SPRING WATER CURE.

This NEW AND SPLENDID ESTABLISHMENT for the scientific treatment of the various diseases with which the human system is afflicted, is situated about three miles from the city of Buffalo, in a rural spot, and so accessible from all points as to be reached without inconvenience or delay.

A line of omnibuses runs from the steamboat landings in Buffalo to the springs every ten minutes.

The house and grounds are near the extensive and beautiful green-houses and nurseries of the Messrs, Hodges & Bryants; and the scenery in all directions is unsurpassed, as regards either variety or beauty; embracing points of view, from which may be taken in at a glance the broad expanse of Lake Erie, the Niagara flowing majestically towards the Falls, extensive forests, and the "Queen City of the Lakes," with its moving panorams of steamboats and ceaseless enterprise.

The water, taken immediately from the celebrated "Cold Spring," is unsurpassed as regards coldness and purity, by any in the United States. The house, recently erected at a cost of about seven thousand deliars, has been fitted up in a neat and elegant style, at considerable extra expense, and is sufficiently capacious to accommodate sevently-five patients.

Connected with the establishment, and constitue inceed of its attractions, are the fixtures and convenience: MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT. MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

The institution is under the general supervision of S. M. Davis, M. D., Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine in Central Medical College, and Geo. W. Davis, M. D., formerly of Dansville, N. Y., the resident physician, and is permanently associated with the before mentioned gentleman as counsel, and associate of the medical board of control. And the friends of the establishment deem it a matter of felicitation that the services of Miss Mary M. Taylor, a lady of high medical attainments, who has attended two courses of lectures in the Central Medical College, have been secured, and that female patients can at any time avail themselves of her invaluable aid and counsel.

The steward's department is under the control of a gentleman eminently qualified for that position; and unweared pains will be taken to have every thing appertaining to the establishment arranged on a plan, and conducted in a way, to ensure the comfort, and promote the health and happiness of all who may wish to avail themselves of its benefits. Baths of all descriptions, adapted to the curs of the various forms of disease, and constructed on a scale not inferior to those of any other establishment in this country.

of the various forms of disease, and constructed on a scale not inferior to those of any other establishment in this country.

An enlightened public sentiment has everywhere repudiated a reckless use of drugs in the treatment of disease; while intolerable sufferings and broken constitutions have imperatively demanded "Reform." A return from a wide and fatal departure from the simplicity of Nature's laws is called for, alike by a rational love of happiness and the degicrable exigencies of our condition. Hydropathy, or a scientific use of water as a restorative and curative agent, is a practical substitution of a simple and remarkably efficacious mode of curing the sick; for that system of drugging, depleting, and casuterizing, which, if bottsming the mastery over disease, too frequently places the patient beyond the reach of further annoyance. The success of the various Water Cure establishments in this country, to say nothing of any other, has fully confirmed the hopes of the early discoverers and promulgators of the great traths upon which the system is founded, and renders verbal communications unnecessary. It is deemed sufficient to say, that the "Cold Spring Water Cure" will compare favorably with any of the well-conducted establishments of a similar character, and will be found equal to the best, as regards the order, convenience, and desirableness of its arrangements. The Institution is now open for the reception of patients, and in full operation.

TERMS.

For board, medical advice, attendance and nursing, &c., from $7 to $14 per week, payable weekly, varying according to the room and attention required. Each patient will be required to furnish two linen sheets, two cotton comforters, one woollen blanket, and four towels: or, where it is not convenient for the patient to furnish them as above, they can be supplied at the establishment by paying fifty cents a week.

All communications for medical advice should be addressed either to S. M. Davis, M. D., or to George W. Davi 1 M. D., 239 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y.
